Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Opening Address of the Maryland Association, for the Encouragement of Literature and the Arts Fellow Citizens, Ladies and Gentlemen: - I appear before you, this evening, as the organ of The Maryland Association for the Encouragement of Literature and the Arts. I am called upon to deliver the opening address, which I presume is to be a sort of introductory to others which are to follow, and the short time allowed for preparation - a few days - crowded with other duties and engagements, must plead for its imperfections. As the Association contemplates the promotion of Literature, in connection with every department of Philosophy, Science, and the Arts, in the introductory address I am restricted in the choice of a subject. It should set forth, as far as the same is - possible, the objects of the Association. In view of this obligation, I will address you upon Man in his Social, Civil, and Associated Relations; and The Importance of Literature to him in each of these Relations. Man was designed by his Creator...
